Taxes at state level must be raised to offset property tax

By CHRISTY CROSS

Last week's meeting between the five-town school and municipal officials and area legislators and legislative candidates posed one main question: How do we get control of skyrocketing property taxes?

The answers only began to emerge after two hours of discussion and the officials agreed, at meeting's end, to meet again in September.

Then, they said, they would be prepared to formulate specific proposals for the legislators to carry back to Augusta for the next legislative session.

The school tax formula, broad-based property tax, income tax and meals and lodging tax will all be back in the next legislative session, the legislators agreed.

"I think we've got to recognize that we've got to raise a tax," said Bethel Selectman Pat Doon. "The legislators need some backing to help them decide how to do it."

"It's hard to go down there (Augusta) when you've got to cut a deal to get something done. If they've got a big enough constituency behind them, maybe they won't have to cut so many deals to get things done," said Greenwood Selectman Ray Seames.

Discussion during the meeting, held April 28 at Telstar, ranged from funding state mandates to rewriting the school funding law and/or increasing sales and income taxes.

Citing escalating landfill costs and state mandated underground fuel tank removal as examples, Bethel Selectman Arlan Jordrey told the legislators, "There's no end in sight and we're not even keeping the roads up."

Half-jokingly, Jordrey said the school funding would soon no longer be a question because the roads would be so bad the school buses wouldn't be able to make it to the schools.

SAD #44 Supt. Dewaine Craig said that of the mandates of the School Reform Act of 1984, his district still does not have elementary art and health, nor does it have an alternative school program.

Representative Jeffrey N. Mills asked Craig what, of those mandates, he thought the district should have a waiver on.

"I think the three programs we don't have, we should have," Craig said.

The school funding law is based primarily on a town's valuation, as is the county tax. The single greatest portion of education funding in most, if not all, districts is teacher salaries.

Representative Ida Luther said a bill was presented at the last session of the legislature that would have the state take over teachers' salaries, and would have meant a single teacher contract. But the governor said no, it was a tax increase, she said, so the bill died.

Legislative candidate Al Barth said, "Having worked in a state where that was done (I can say) we don't want it. We want local control."

SAD #44 presents $6 million budget vote Thursday night

By MICHAEL DANIELS

At the SAD #44 annual budget meeting Thursday evening, district voters will be asked to approve a fiscal-year 1991 school budget of more than $6 million.

The general fund budget of $5,901,117, which was approved in March by the SAD #44 Board of Directors, is up 6.51 percent from that of the current year.

Voters will also be asked to approve an Adult and Community Education budget of $120,604 (including NOVA).

Because of a reduction in state revenues coming into the district, the amount of money to be raised from local taxation in the coming year will increase by 23.67 percent—from $2,417,164 for FY '90 to $2,989,248 for FY '91.

Newry officials consider dropping out of SAD #44

Newry selectmen are exploring their options for pulling the town out of SAD #44.

The selectmen have set up a meeting on May 22 with Richard Card, an official of the state Department of Educational and Cultural Services, and with the town's school directors and SAD #44 Supt. Dewaine Craig.

First Selectman Steve Wight said the move, "is driven by the fact that we're paying $12,500 per year, per student."

The high per-pupil expense results from the fact that fewer than five percent of the students in the district are from Newry, but because of its high real estate valuation the town must contribute nearly 25 percent of the amount of money raised locally to support the district.

Town officials have also complained in the past that their financial contribution to the district is not adequately reflected in the town's voting power on the SAD #44 Board of Directors (which is based on one-man, one-vote representation).

Wight said the selectmen want to explore all their options, including having the town operate its own school system or contracting with an educational corporation to provide K-12 services.

The May 22 meeting will be held at the town office, Wight said, "and anyone who is interested is welcome to attend."

GAINING CONTROL—A Sunday afternoon fire driven by strong winds totally destroyed the East Bethel Road residence of Al Beckwith, as well as a nearby garage. But Bethel fireman, shown here hosing down the garage fire, were successful in their efforts to save a seasonal camp located only a few feet from the garage. (Photo by Michael Daniels)

Fire destroys East Bethel home

A Sunday afternoon fire completely destroyed the East Bethel Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Beckwith. There were no injuries in the blaze.

The fire was apparently caused by an electrical problem behind a freezer in a shed attached to the house, according to Bethel Fire Chief James Young.

The fire was discovered at approximately 2 p.m. by Mrs. Beckwith, who was home alone. She went for a fire extinguisher, but by the time she returned the fire had spread beyond her control, the fire chief said.

Mrs. Beckwith went to a neighbor's home to call in the alarm. When Bethel firefighters arrived, the wind-driven flames had completely engulfed the house, jumped to a nearby garage and were spreading through woods and fields near the home.

Twenty Bethel firemen and three trucks fought the blaze. It was under control by 4 p.m., the fire chief said, but not before the house and garage were totally destroyed.

The fire had also started to burn the lower part of a seasonal camp located only a few feet from the garage, Chief Young said, but firefighters were able to prevent any further damage to the building.

Chief Young said that following the fire the Beckwiths went to stay with relatives in Yarmouth, and their daughter's family, who had also been staying at the East Bethel Road home, went to stay with relatives in Rumford.

The value of the damage is not yet known, Chief Young said. The buildings were said to be partially insured.

JOIN HANDS FOR THE LAND—About 500 people paraded to the Bethel Common Friday, April 27, including students from Crescent Park School to 'Join Hands for the Land,' uniting in the cause of protecting the environment. The 1,000 hands, 990 short of the 1,990 hoped for, were accompanied by Telstar's marching band. See more photos on page 3. (Photo by Jeanne Boelsma)

Mother Nature smiles on 'Hands for the Land'

As if to reward the participants in Bethel's 'Join Hands for the Land' for their interest and commitment, Mother Nature smiled on Friday, April 27, sending summer-like temperatures, bright sunlight, blue skies and gentle breezes.

An estimated 500 people joined hands and voices in Bethel Common, in a ceremony organized by the Bethel Conservation Commission in cooperation with local schools.

The event was both festive and serious. As the 1:30 p.m. starting time neared, the general public converged on the Common from all directions. Excitement rose as the Telstar band could be heard approaching, with the entire Crescent Park and Ethel Bisbee student body walking behind.

After joining hands in a circle around the Common, the group heard Walter Hatch of the Conservation Commission explain that their joined hands symbolized the whole community—and people all around the world—uniting in the cause of protecting the environment.

Crescent Park teacher Elizabeth O'Meara described how this event culminated a full day of special environmental activities for her school's students, tying in with active, ongoing programs.

Everyone then joined in singing "America the Beautiful," led by Harry Davis and the Telstar band, and "This Land is Your Land," led in voice and guitar by Linda Stowell.

Rev. Brendon Bass closed the ceremony with a thoughtful message on caring for the earth and all its living things. Everyone was asked to turn around and join hands, facing outward, as a reminder that they were facing "all the rest of the earth," which needs their concern and care.

The organizers sincerely thank all the participants for making this event a success.

Top 10 seniors named at Telstar

Theodore R. Davis, Principal of Telstar Regional High School, is pleased to announce the top 10 seniors of the Class of 1990.

Deborah Barker

Ranking first in the class is Deborah Barker, daughter of Bradley and Judith Barker of Bethel.

She is an outstanding student who has earned a four-year cumulative average of 95.1.

Debbie has served as band secretary and president of chorus, attending both the Kennebec Valley and Mountain Valley Music festivals. She has played field hockey, basketball, and been a member of the student council and color guard.

She has also been a school newspaper reporter, office aide and member of the National Honor Society. She has won numerous awards and distinctions in recent years, including selection as winner of the V.F.W.'s Voice of Democracy essay contest, delegate to Girls State, Maine Scholars Day at U.M.O., and the Hugh O'Brien Youth Leadership Conference.

She has earned designation as a Congressional Scholar, received scholastic achievement awards from the University of Maine and recognition for her outstanding scores on the Maine Educational Assessment.

Outside school Debbie is a member of the United Methodist Youth Fellowship and church choir, the Locke Mills Youth Group and she teaches vacation Bible school. She has served as a Republican campaign volunteer for Senator William Cohen and state legislative candidate, Stanley Howe.

Debbie plans to major in psychology with a minor in history at the University of Maine at Farmington.

Ranking second in the class is Anthony Wayne Stevens, son of Floyd and Alicia Stevens of Woodstock.

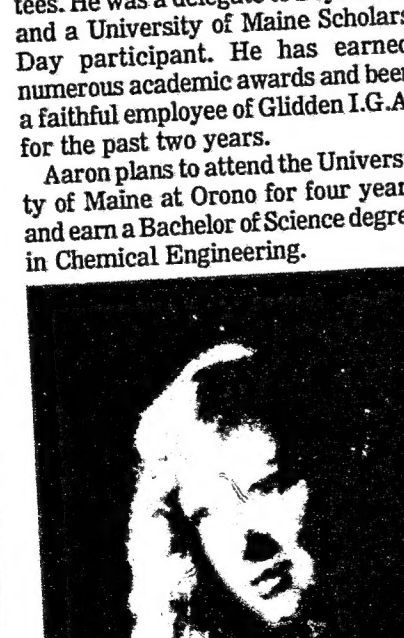

Anthony Stevens

Tony's resourceful and dependable reputation as manager for track for the last three years has been truly valued by the coach and team.

As a newly inducted member of the National Honor Society, Tony's efforts were instrumental in insuring the success of the Red Cross Blood Drive hosted at Telstar. Tony's plans after graduation will be to major in Mechanical Engineering Technology at Vermont Technical College in Randolph Center, Vt.

Achieving the third highest rank in the class is Aaron Daniel Conant, son of Roger and Lillian Conant of Bethel.

Aaron Conant

Aaron is a valued member of the math team and fundraising committees. He was a delegate to Boys State and a University of Maine Scholars Day participant. He has earned numerous academic awards and been a faithful employee of Glidden I.G.A. for the past two years.

Aaron plans to attend the University of Maine at Orono for four years and earn a Bachelor of Science degree in Chemical Engineering.

Fourth in the class is Stephanie Akers Percival, daughter of John and Linda Percival of Andover.

Stephanie is a four-year member of the Alpine Ski Team, captain for the last three years, and a four-year member of the track team, captain of the last two years.

She has served on the Freshman Awareness Committee, a member of Self Group, Co-President and Treasurer of Students Against Drunk Driving and a two-year member of the National Honor Society, president this year.

Stephanie has also been a member of the band and Student Council and received numerous academic awards including the Bausch and Lomb Science Award.

She is a member of the Andover Congregational Church Youth Group and represented them at the D.C. '88 Religious Convention. Stephanie also waitresses church suppers for the An-

BETHEL SPRING CLEAN-UP

MONDAY, MAY 7, 1990

Monday, May 7, 1990 has been designated as Spring Clean-Up Day by the Public Works Department. The town will pick up white goods (stoves, refrigerators, etc.) and tires at no charge. Garbage and animal waste will not be picked up. Leaves must be in bags and brush must be tied in bundles. Between May 5 and May 13, 1990, white goods and tires may be brought to the Landfill at no charge for persons from Bethel, Newry and Hancock with landfill permits. This is Bethel's contribution towards the Earth Day Celebration as well as providing for a cleaner environment for both ourselves and our neighbors.

Opinions

The following editorial is taken from an early April issue of the St. Croix Currier, published in St. Stephens, New Brunswick and Calais, Maine. Though the specific subjects of the editorial live many miles away, the topic is one that, also tragically, could occur in our area as well.

AIDS: a tragedy on the border

Unknown to most residents of Calais and St. Stephen, a tragedy involving a large number of people has been unfolding over the past few weeks in these two communities. At the center of the story is the HIV virus causing AIDS. And the full extent of the tragedy is still unclear, as public officials in Washington County refuse to make comment.

Several weeks ago a young Calais woman, aged 27, was diagnosed as having the HIV virus. Our hearts have to go out to her for this is a personal tragedy. She is now in Bangor.

However, over the last couple of years she had sexual contact with approximately 195 men in the Calais-St. Stephen area. She kept a diary. Private conversations with a number of area doctors have confirmed the main points of this story, and this has indicated the real tragedy here.

The men who slept with the woman were from all walks of life. Some were older, some were younger. It appears approximately a third were from the St. Stephen area. A reasonably high proportion were married.

All of these men may have the HIV virus causing AIDS—but they may not. They will not know for some time, and for the sakes of everyone around them they should have themselves tested for the HIV.

But the tragedy spreads even further, for anyone with the HIV virus could spread it to others. Local doctors have confirmed a number of wives of those contacted have gone for HIV testing.

The fears, the risks and the strain on personal relationships spread far beyond the individuals directly involved. For those married, there are no doubt questions of trust causing anguish right now. For those not married there is both the direct fear of having the virus, and the question of developing and carrying on long term attachments with the terror of AIDS hanging over one.

It is easy to deny AIDS can affect all of us. But while there have been some cases in the border area before now, the effect on approximately 200 individuals here means it is part of our community now.

The tragedy and the suspicion reaches out to all of us. There is now no question—all precautions should be taken on any casual sexual encounter, or in such situations, abstinence considered. There must be awareness the HIV virus can affect all others who subsequently have sex with an affected person.

AIDS is terrifying. And we have not come to terms with having to provide emotional support for those infected with the HIV virus, or for those in relationships with individuals.

This incident also points out another truth about AIDS. It is a heterosexual disease on a world-wide basis, and increasingly is catching hold in the heterosexual world in North America. You cannot remain safe by saying it is a disease of gays and needle users.

With blood screening now reducing infection among the non-gay/non-needle user community, intercourse with a partner of the opposite sex is increasingly likely to be the source of infection.

Take precautions.

—Tom Moffatt

LIMIT CONGRESSIONAL TERMS

To the Editor:

A group of concerned citizens have gotten together to form the Maine Chapter of Americans to Limit Congressional Terms. We feel that this is necessary because the Congress of the United States is out of touch and out of control.

We are interested in returning to the concept our founding fathers had for a Congress of citizens working on behalf of all the people—where the unwritten rule was that you went to Washington, worked hard on the nation's business for two, four or six years and then returned home.

There are no longer any "citizen legislators" around. They have all been run out of office by "professional politicians" who devote most of their time to promoting themselves, protecting their lifelong seats and refusing to tackle tough problems.

Congress has acted systematically and repeatedly to protect the incumbency (about 96 percent of all incumbents are returned to office) and to make the job of Congressional service as comfortable as possible.

Just last year, Congress voted to increase its own level of pay from $89,500 per year to $120,800 in 1991. This places Members of Congress in the top one percent of all wage earners nationwide.

We are looking for people that are as fired up with this situation as we are. We are a non-profit, non-partisan grass roots organization that wants to get a Constitutional Amendment passed that will limit Congressional terms to 12 years of service. We need help!

If anyone is interested in getting more information, collecting signatures or attending meetings, please contact us. We are organizing all over the state because we know it is not realistic to expect the politicians to change a system that they find so beneficial.

Maine Chapter ALCT

YOUNG AUTHORS' DAY

To the Editor:

In an effort to promote language learning and literacy, Crescent Park School will be holding a Young Authors' Day on May 11.

Authors and artists from all over the state will be presenting our students with a variety of ways to incorporate literature and art into their lives.

These authors and artists do cost money to bring to our schools and we would like to extend our thanks to the following people for their financial contributions: Bethel Inn, Bethel Savings Bank, Stan Howe, Ruth Grover, Bonema's and Les Otten.

Contributions are still welcomed. Please Support Young Authors' Day at Crescent Park. Thank you.

We must solve fiscal problems

By CHARLES J. MICOLEAU

The leaders in Washington must deal forthrightly with our $2.8 trillion debt and our $150 billion annual deficit.

No more accounting tricks, trust funds, raids on deferred payments—1990 is the right time for real solutions.

During 1989 there were Maine Economic Policy Forums in Orono, Augusta and Portland to discuss possible answers to our national budgetary dilemma.

We also focused on the impacts on Maine of various deficit reduction measures.

Over 100 people from academia, government, business, social services and labor participated and a number of interesting insights resulted.

First: We had general agreement that the quiet arrangement between the president and the Congress is not working.

For the past 10 years we have had presidents who are trying to make philosophical points about taxes and Congress that, as a consequence, is unwilling to take the initiative in the revenue-raising area.

Economically we have suffered from this stalemate.

Second: We recognized that Maine receives more federal tax dollars than we send to Washington. For every dollar of federal taxes we pay, we receive about $1.50 back.

That means Maine's economy will suffer more from federal budget cuts than from federal tax increases.

Third: The Gramm-Rudman target numbers are fair goals, but our inability to address them squarely in 1989 does not bode well for 1990.

Last fall, Washington talked about only needing to pinch the deficit by $16.1 billion. Even still, the Congress and the president deadlocked until after the budget deadline passed.

In the coming year, we will have to narrow the gap by $36 billion to $75 billion to reach the 1991 deficit target of $84 billion.

Fourth: As an older, bigger, poorer state with a tourism-influenced economy, Maine suffers more directly from flat taxes, such as excise taxes, than from graduated income taxes.

Fifth: The "No new taxes" pledge is a sham. Despite the drop in the current tax brackets, the burden of federal taxation has increased for most Mainers.

Moreover, future interest payments on the federal debt will be the biggest tax increase of all for those entering the work force today.

With that background, we set about establishing some general goals and guidelines for a deficit reduction plan. It must:

* Have a real impact on the deficit with honest accounting. "Truth in borrowing" was the thought repeated by several people.

* Avoid an adverse economic impact on Maine people or on our state government's money raising ability.

* Keep the system of taxation as fair as possible.

By following these rules, we felt that a bold bi-partisan effort might result. While there was not universal agreement, the following solutions could strike the necessary political balance.

1. Establish a deficit reduction account. Begin to fund it by committing 50 percent of any "peace dividend" savings from defense cutbacks; instituting a one-year five percent across-the-board surtax with all revenues going to deficit reduction that will generate $20 billion; removing the drop in tax brackets for those in the top five percent of earnings per year.

At present, we have a graduated system of 15 percent, 28 percent and 33 percent, which then drops back to 28 percent at very high incomes.

That change alone could produce $30 billion in the next five years.

2. Stop playing games. That means dropping the "read my lips" sloganeering. That's not the kind of leadership we need; stop using highway, Social Security and other trust funds to make the budget look better; stop suggesting that increases in the regressive nickel and dime sin taxes on gasoline, alcohol, tobacco and telephone are the answer.

Nearly three quarters of all Americans now pay more in payroll and excise taxes than they do in income taxes.

3. Quit telling us that there is no money and then finding a way to commit billions to problems most of us have never even heard of until recently (i.e., savings and loans bailouts).

We trust this is a start. In a period of economic slowdown for Maine, the management of our national economy becomes even more important.

Our financial well-being will depend on wise fiscal and tax policies.

(Charles Micoleau was Administrative Assistant to former U.S. Senator Edmund S. Muskie during the formative years of the Congressional budget process. He is a member of the Democratic National Committee and is presently practicing law in Portland.)

Earth Day used as a handy excuse for make-a-park-out-of-it 'environmentalism'

By CHARLES S. CUSHMAN

For two years property owners and multiple-use advocates have battled the massive $1 billion per year anti-multiple use American Heritage Trust.

It is no coincidence that a hearing on the Senate version of the Trust was scheduled for April 25. That was to take advantage of all the hoopla surrounding Earth Day. It was intended to stampede Congress toward passage.

By the time you read this, Earth Day 1990 will be history. The 20th anniversary of America's official "environmental awakening" will have been duly bludgeoned into the anti-consciousness with all the hype of last year's Academy Awards.

Our neighbors and friends will have been encouraged to commemorate the historic event by driving their gas-powered automobiles to rallies protesting the extraction of Alaskan oil, by protesting the continued operation of paper mills producing white paper, or by writing Congress (on bleached white paper) demanding a halt to grazing and the harvest of timber on federal land.

In Washington, D.C., Congress, too, will have been doing its part, holding carefully staged hearings on two important bills, one to "study" a massive expansion of our national parks, the other to tap taxpayers' wallets to the tune of $1 billion each year to "save" what happened to the environmental movement? What happened to the onerous goals of unpolluting local streams, planting trees and recycling everything in sight? Serious conservation seems to have gone the way of the cloth diaper: Still out there, still used, but largely ignored and forgotten amid the hype of those selling something environmentally counter-productive... expanding and creating parks and wilderness.

The modern salesman for the Sierra Club, National Parks and Conservation Association and others are selling the public the disposable diaper of environmentalism. It proposes to solve every environmental problem by making a park out of it. It cleans no streams, plants no trees and recycles nothing.

It is counter-productive because it diverts individual and public energy and resources away from real environmental problems into a program against private ownership and individual enterprise. Its primary result (and perhaps its primary purpose) has been to increase the wealth and influence of a handful of special interest lobbying groups attempting to dictate our national land policy to you and me.

The allure of "make-a-park-out-of-it" environmentalism, like that of disposable diapers, is convenience. Face it, parks are easy. Congress is looking for a quick fix to show the voters that it has heard from them about Earth Day. The Sierra Club, MPCA and others are ready with their plan to make a park out of it.

Being a serious environmentalist is hard work; it means physically helping to clean the trash from your local beach or creek, recycling your motor oil (and diapers), changing the way you water your lawn, drive your car, get to work, and spend your leisure time. How much easier it is to fulfill one's environmental obligations by getting Congress to make a park out of someone else's land.

The process gives supposedly important lands to greedy land agencies forced by underfunding and understaffing to use the padlock as their primary management tool. It has been bad for the environment.

The architects of Earth Day 1990 called for a "renewed dedication to the environmental protection begun 20 years ago." With that, we heartily agree—but note that the "environmental protection" the Sierra Club and others are seeking today is not the same as two decades back. We need renewed dedication toward individual initiative and hard work, not grabbing land as a substitute for real environmental protection. You cannot stop global warming by making a park out of it.

Citizens must deliver that message loudly, clearly and quickly to their Senators and to those on the Senate Public Lands and National Parks Subcommittee. May 9 is the deadline to submit testimony.

Charles S. Cushman is executive director of the National Inholders Association and the Multiple-Use Land Alliance, which have over 15,000 members in 50 states.

NIA includes people who own property or other equity interests inside or adjacent to federally managed areas or who fear the conversion of their property into new parks, wilderness or wild and scenic rivers.

MULTA encourages recreation, access, commodity and other multiple-use activities on appropriate federal lands.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the next monthly meeting will be held on Thursday, May 3 in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The program will feature a slide show of old photographs relating to Andover and vicinity by Allen Fraser. Anyone interested in attending this meeting is cordially invited to do so.

The Oxford County League of Historical Societies met in Bethel on Saturday, April 21 with a large number of Oxford County's historical societies represented.

League president Stanley R. Howe welcomed the group to Bethel. League vice-president Ben B. Conant of South Paris announced that the July meeting of the League would be held in Fryeburg and the September meeting in Brownfield.

The program focused on cooping in Oxford County and several member societies brought names of coopers to the attention of the group.

Joseph Heath was a cooper in Gilead; Justus (known as "Cooper") Bean practiced his trade on Holt Hill in East Bethel for many years.

Other known coopers in Oxford County include J.H. Ellingwood and Vivian Beane of Hebron, Calvin Howe and Francis Hemingway of Rumford, Leander Billings, R.L. Cummings and Lee Libby of Paris, Fred Cooper, Nat Morrill and George Cloutier of Buckfield and George Young, "Jack" Bracken and Roscoe G. Stevens of Sumner.

Several of those attending told stories about cooping in their towns.

A film "The Cooper's Craft" completed the program. Refreshments and a social hour followed.

Bundling was common practice in many parts of New England, due to the shortage of beds.

Often a bundling board separated a farmer's daughter and a traveling salesman, for example. Sometimes pillows, bolsters and bags were also used to keep the two sleepers separate.

In extreme cases, nails were driven through the bundling board to ensure that the sharers of one bed stayed apart. Despite the fact that bundling was a common occurrence, particularly in rural areas, preachers sometimes condemned it and essays were written in newspapers railing against the practice, which continued well into the 19th century.

LOOKING BACK

10 years ago: President Carter selected Rumford native Senator Edmund S. Muskie to succeed Cyrus Vance as Secretary of State.

Feature speaker at the Bethel Historical Society was Blaine Mills of Locke Mills who made a presentation on Greenwood's past featuring slides of old photographs.

Nancy Stowell was named valedictorian of the 1980 Gould Academy graduating class.

Marriage: Dennis Garey and Irene Marston. Deaths: Lewis Morton, Jr., Vivian E. Bemis, Agnes M. Chase.

20 years ago: SAD #44 elementary students presented "The Four Seasons" at Telstar Regional High School Auditorium under the direction of Edith Epper.

Speed limit signs were placed on Main, Broad, and Paradise Streets.

Paul Head was presented with his 50-year certificate at Pleasant River Grange by Past Deputy Earle Rogers.

Births: Laura G. Brown, Matthew Irving York. Death: Clarence F. Ring.

30 years ago: A fiberglass boat owned by Al's Sunoco and valued, along with motor, at $1,600 floated over the falls at Rumford.

Louis and Florice Paul and family, West Bethel, were honored at a housewarming given by friends.

Births: Becky Sue Gamble, Jay W. Gould. Deaths: Bertha N. Storey, George K. Wight, Marilyn H. Wentzell.

40 years ago: Many roads and bridges were damaged by a freshet which followed 24 hours of heavy rain. Roads were blocked with high water at Alder River, and Mill Brook in Bethel; also in Newry, Grafton, Rumford and Snow's Falls.

Extensive road repairs were necessary in East and Northwest Bethel and in the "Irish Neighborhood."

The Gould Academy student newspaper, The Blue and The Gold, received a certificate of achievement and merit in a contest sponsored by the Colby Echo, the undergraduate weekly of Colby College.

Births: Linwood A. Chayer. 50 years ago: Elwood F. Ireland, principal of Newport (Vt.) high school, was elected by the trustees to succeed Philip S. Sayles as principal of Gould Academy.

Wilfred Lowe of Bryant Pond suffered a fracture and dislocated ankle at Locke Mills when his motorcycle collided with a car driven by Margaret Lundy of Bethel.

Avery and Mary Angevine were given a house warming at their new home in Upton.

Marriage: Conrad R. Chaffin and Sylvia A. Merrill. Deaths: Peter J. Littlehale, Svanta A. Saarninen.

Deadlines

The deadline for most news items, including town items, meeting notices, write-ups of meetings, photos, etc., is Saturday noon.

The deadline for letters-to-the-editor, births, obituaries, and listings for the back-page calendar, is Monday at 5 p.m.

As for advertising, the deadline is Monday noon, except it is Monday at 5 p.m. for classifieds, such as For Sale and Help Wanted, as well as Cards of Thanks.

We like getting letters

The Citizen loves to receive letters, and most that we receive are printed in the Letters section.

Letters that are intended for publication should be signed by the letter writer. Unsigned letters will not be printed. In some extraordinary instances, however, a writer's name may be withheld by request.

Letters should be dropped off at The Citizen office, or mailed to P.O. Box 109, Bethel 04217.

Taxes

"If we had an average wage factored in," she said, property taxes would be more closely based on ability to pay.

Citing Bethel's increase in valuation two years ago, from $68 million to $148 million, Town Clerk Merton Brown said, "That figure is such an important figure," upon which the school tax and the county tax are based.

"Also, it's no indication of the ability of the people in the town to pay," Doen said.

Legislative candidate Stanley Howe said, "That's a 66 percent increase in state valuation in one year. Now those valuations wouldn't hold water. Sales ratios are plummeting."

"I think if our revaluation were done in 90-91 instead of 89-90, it would be a very different picture," said Jodrey.

Doen said, "We've got to make our minds what way we want to go... Maine's income tax isn't burdensome (compared with Massachusetts' income tax, for example). When you make the money, you pay the money. You're not paying it every year when you rent your property from the town whether you've made any money or not."

"I would like to see an increase in the income tax," she said.

Luther said, "People in Massachusetts and New York can apparently afford to pay a lot more for property than we can. We are being priced out of the market in our own state."

Woodstock school committee member Margaret Hand said, "I was born in Pennsylvania. I hate the term out-of-stater. We have 'visitors' that come here from out of state. Don't blame the out-of-staters for the prices we're paying. You are asking those prices. It's the Maine people that are pricing Mainers out of the market."

Greenwood Selectman Marie Bartlett said, "I'm million a month is going to the state on transfer taxes. It's the towns that are generating that. Why can't the towns get even one percent of that back?"

"That money has already been earmarked for other things," said Mills, for example, the Maine State Housing Authority's first-time homebuyers program.

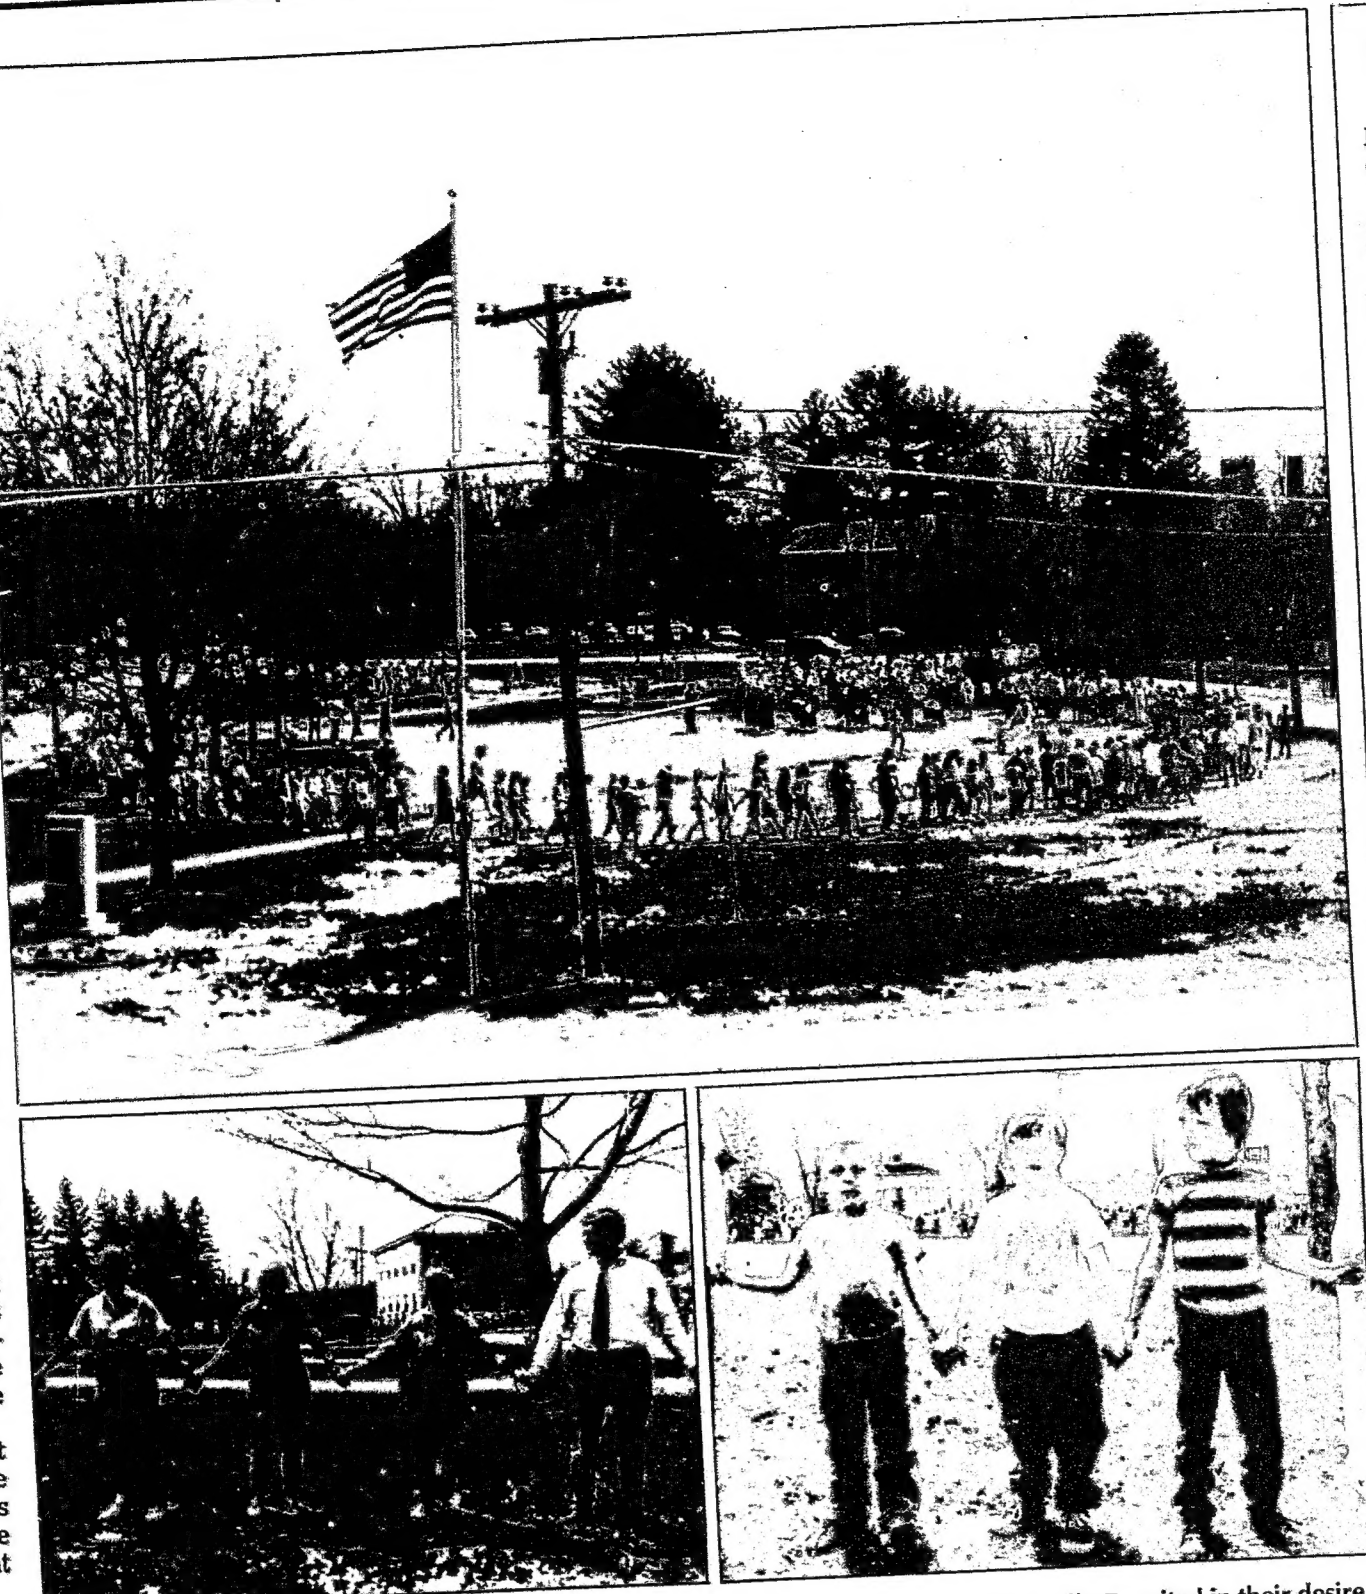

Jodrey asked, "Is there some way we could be more aware of what these taxes are earmarked for?"

"We try, with newsletters and that sort of thing," said Mills.

"Can you explain what happened to the meals and lodging tax," Jodrey asked. Senator Don Twitchell said, "We've already got it on lodging, anyway... most restaurants said it would hurt the elderly when they came out to eat."

Carl Hansen, a candidate for the Bethel Board of Selectmen, said, "The size of the (state) government is getting out of hand. I'd rather support local employees than more state employees. If you raise taxes, these people in Augusta are going to find new ways to spend it."

Hand said, "I think many times the people in Augusta get the idea that if we don't spend it all we won't get as much next year."

School budget

Incentives must be developed for saving, she said. The state of Maine's economy, all agreed, was affecting revenues and spending across the board.

Twitchell said, "We've deferred about everything we can defer until 1991... In 1991 we're going to be in a mess."

Summing up the evening, Doen said, "Two groups got together and it was a very positive meeting, but one group is saying we need more money and the other group is saying we don't have any money. We have to recognize each other's problems. I think it will be four years before we start to pull out of this economic downturn."

The proposed Adult and Community Education budget (including NOVA) is up just over 15 percent from that of the current year, but with state revenues actually going up in this area, the local assessment will increase by less than half that percentage, to $5,159. The fall-off in state money coming into the district to offset general fund expenses is due primarily to two factors: the sharply increased real-estate valuations in the district and the state's economic slowdown, which has resulted in the state having less money to contribute to local education.

Four years ago, in May of 1986, more than 700 voters turned out for the district budget meeting and forced a cut of $400,000 from a proposed budget of $4.2 million. Thursday's meeting will be held in the Telstar auditorium and will begin at 7 p.m.

Bethel police report

On Monday, April 30 at 1:30 p.m. a Flat Road resident reported ATVs operating within 200 feet of a dwelling.

At 12:10 p.m. police received a report that a ski jacket had been found at a Broad Street business.

At 10:20 a.m. a Greenwood resident reported a pocket calendar lost in the Bethel area.

At 10 a.m. police received a report that a delivery truck was consistently driving out the entrance of a Main Street business' parking lot.

At 9:55 a.m. a West Bethel resident reported a lost checkbook, which may have been thrown by a child out the car window between Main Street and Grover Hill on April 27.

At 8:15 a.m. a Route 2 business requested assistance in removing a vehicle parked in its parking lot. When police arrived, the owner of the vehicle had already removed it.

On Sunday, April 29 at 11:02 p.m. Oxford County Sheriff's Office called for assistance at Trap Corner Store in West Paris where a break-in was reportedly in progress. State Police located two juveniles and returned them to the scene.

At 11:08 a.m. a Chapman Street resident reported skateboarders on Chapman Street. Police responded and found four boys sitting on the side of the road. Two had skateboards in their hands. Police warned the two with skateboards against skateboarding in the street.

At 12:03 a.m. a Summer Street resident reported loud music and that a group of people were yelling and causing a disturbance in a parking lot.

On Saturday, April 28 at 8:15 p.m. a Main Street resident turned in a purse found on Route 213 in West Paris. The man had already called the owner of the purse, a Buckfield woman, who picked up the purse at the Bethel Police Department.

At 1:33 p.m. police received a report that kids had been hanging around an

Elm Street parking lot between 9 p.m. and 2 a.m. the previous night, making a lot of noise and racing cars up and down Elm Street.

Also on April 29 a New Hampshire resident who had locked his keys in his car called for assistance in unlocking the vehicle. Police were unsuccessful so the man agreed to call a local garage for help.

At 11:56 a.m. a Paradise Road resident reported a hole two feet deep and nine inches across on Main Street in front of the IGA. After an unsuccessful attempt to contact the Highway Department foreman, police reported a person or persons unknown had filled the hole.

At 1:20 a.m. police picked up an apparently intoxicated pedestrian who was walking in the middle of Route 2 and transported her to Newry Corner.

On Friday, April 27 at 8:21 p.m. a Church Street resident reported a person driving dangerously on Church Street. The resident also reported that incidents of a similar nature occur frequently in that area.

At 6:30 p.m. a report of a possible intoxicated driver traveling south on Route 5.

At 2:45 a.m. an Auburn man, driving north on Route 26, 2 miles south of the Chandler Hill Road, collided with a deer.

On Thursday, April 26 at 10:20 p.m. the Bethel Fire Chief requested frequent checks at the site of a fire department practice burn in a cellar on Vernon Street.

At 3:45 p.m. police received a complaint from a local business that a video tape, rented on March 23, had not been returned.

At 8:30 a.m. a Church Street resident reported an abandoned vehicle on Church Street. Police had the vehicle towed from the area. The vehicle, which was described as rusty and leaking oil, was registered to a Vermont resident.

TELSTAR REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL—The Telstar band has a jam-packed spring schedule this year. Leading the band in a recent practice to prepare to meet that schedule in style are Lisa Farnham and Brenda Hart. (Photo by Dorothy Duddy)

May is busy for Telstar Band

May is traditionally one of the busiest months of the year for the director and members of the Telstar Band.

The parade cycle began on April 15 with the band participating in the annual Patriots' Day parade in Lexington, Mass.

This was the first appearance of the band in their new uniforms, and they did a superb job. Not only was the band invited back to Lexington for next year's parade, but they received invitations to march in Gloucester, Mass. on July 3 and in Burlington, Mass. on July 4. The latter invitation included an offer of $1,000 if the band would participate.

Since returning from Massachusetts the band has received an additional invitation to participate in the "Autumn-fest" parade and celebration in Woonsocket, R.I. next October. The band also took part in the "Join Hands for the Land" celebration on Bethel Common on Friday, April 27.

The next appearances of the marching band will be on Saturday, May 12 when they march in the Westbrook Firefighters' 100th Anniversary Parade in Westbrook in the morning and then race to Lewiston-Auburn with the Westbrook band to compete with 14 other marching bands in the televised Maine State Parade. The band is also slated to make its traditional four parade appearances on Memorial Day.

In addition to their heavy parade commitment, the band will be conducting their annual bowl-a-thon on Friday afternoon, May 11 to raise additional money needed for their new uniforms. And, of course, there are the annual spring concerts for the music department—May 23 for the beginning band and May 30 for the high school band.

Band Director Harry Davis admits that the pressure is sometimes extremely intense trying to cover all the bases with a small group of students who are heavily committed to a host of other activities which include athletics, student government, support groups, honor societies and several other worthwhile activities.

"The bottom line is this: I've got a fantastic group of outstanding youth who give me about all they have to give without losing their equilibrium. It is the students who make it all worthwhile. They give of themselves and I love them."

Telstar Girl Scouts to celebrate May Day

Brownie, Junior and Cadette Girl Scouts will participate in a traditional May Day celebration on Saturday, May 5 from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Mountain Valley Middle School (former Mexico High School) in Mexico.

The Scouts will make May baskets and hair garlands, with a dance around the May Pole for the final activity. They are to bring their own bag lunches.

Adults attending with the girls are reminded to bring scissors, staplers, blankets and plastic or silk flowers. Additional information may be obtained by calling Eileen Kerr at 364-7258.

Agnes Gray School

By MARTA CLEMENTS

Everyone returned from vacation fresh and ready to tackle the last leg of the school year.

Parents and friends, reserve Monday evening May 7, to attend the gala performance of Cinderella.

The cast is concentrating on these last two weeks to practice and polish for an outstanding performance. Showtime will be 7 p.m.

Bicycle Safety booklets have been received by us, compliments of AAA and have been passed out to all students. This is a good time of year to stress bicycle safety to bike riders and to automobile drivers.

SRA Achievement tests will be given during the week of April 30. Grades two, three, five and six will be testing. The fourth graders have already been through the Maine State Achievement tests and will not be tested again.

Parents, please check with your children about notifying the school concerning new home addresses now that street numbers have been given to all West Paris residents.

A form has been sent home and should be returned as soon as possible for us to update our records.

Classroom news beginning with the kindergarten classes is: Pretzel letters are being made one last time, as the students are learning about the letter Z. Mrs. Howes has created a learning center called the game table. There are several ABC games and number games to be played which reinforce the skills already learned.

The children are also writing the numbers 0-9 and are talking about families in their CAP program.

The first graders are beginning a study of the family as part of their community focus.

They are enjoying their new reading book, Rainbow Bridge, which has some neat stories about inventions, such as automobiles and airplanes, plus some more fairy tales.

They are also continuing to read their Norman Bridwell books about Clifford, the big red dog.

Grade two is enjoying the story of Runaway Ralph by Beverly Cleary.

They have taken a walk to look for signs of spring and they are learning all about the OY sound as their spelling words this week are Toy/Noise words.

The third graders are concentrating on multiplication facts and have made flash cards and are playing different games to learn their facts.

They are zeroing in on their study of trees in science. They have begun by observing and viewing scientifically. They are studying WAY/WEIGH words in spelling.

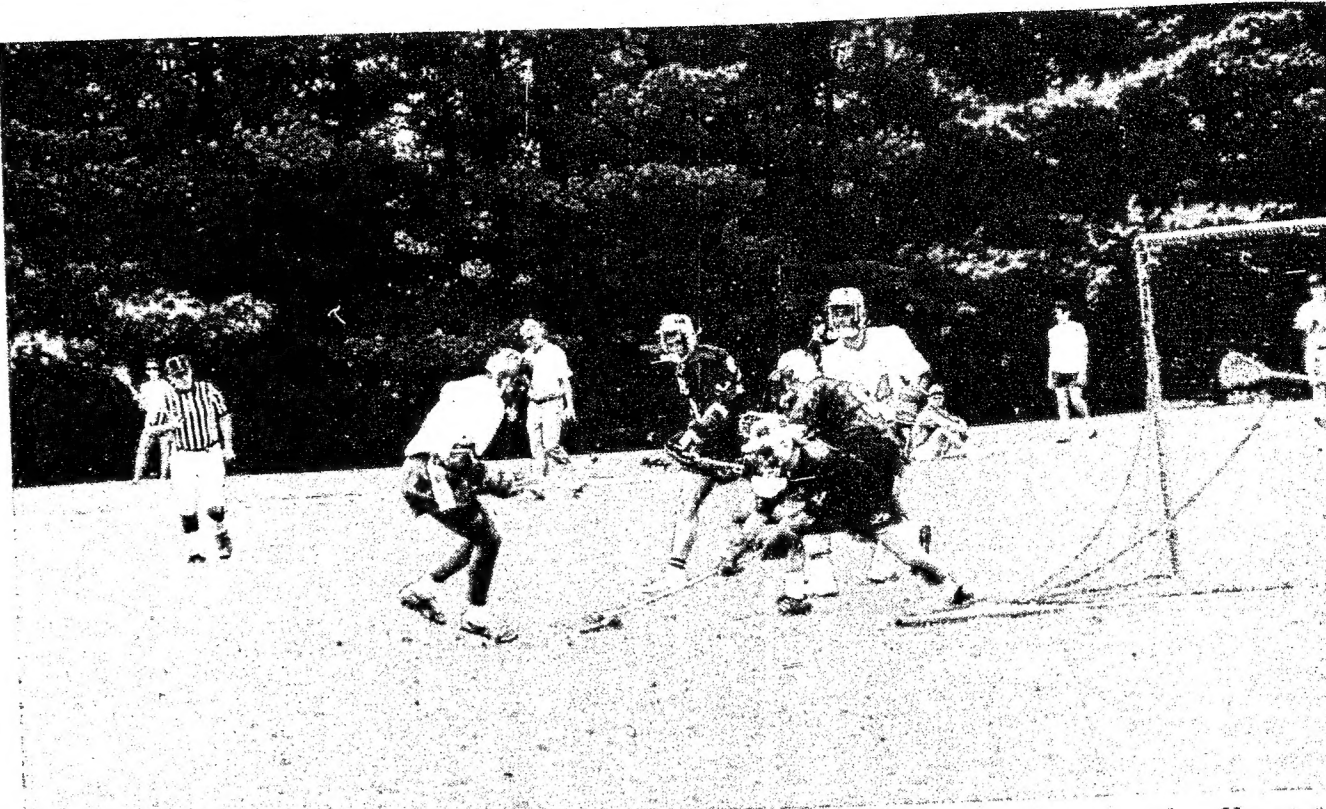

Mr. Burke will be sponsoring an Earth Week activity of a nature scavenger hunt on Friday. The class is also welcoming a new classmate, Ian McLean. Ian seems glad to be back.

The fourth graders are wrapping up their state reports in social studies, and their study of cells in science.

They are participating in a variety of Earth Week activities and volunteered to clean up our playground.

The fifth graders have been studying the body systems and this week our school nurse, Sheila Morse, visited and taught the reproductive system to the boys and girls.

On Thursday, the third, fourth and fifth graders joined other children in the district attending a concert featuring the Schooner Fare.

And, on Friday, Don Rollins visited the fifth grade classroom to present a program of music and poetry which tied in with our Earth Week activities.

The sixth graders will be concentrating on the environment for their science classes the rest of the year.

They will be looking into nature studies, wet lands, ocean, forest and our own back yard. They have identified and marked our nature trail in back of our school. They are continuing their recycling projects and are working with the WASTE AWAY project sponsored by the Extension Office.

They are also involved in the school play, achievement testing, and preparing their own mini social studies lesson to teach to their classmates.

Two Soviet youths enrolled in Gould Academy summer school

Gould Academy Summer School has two boys from the Soviet Union enrolled for the 1990 session. Stephen Butenko, 16, and Dmitri Tokka, 15, will join students from a number of foreign countries and from throughout the United States in a six-week enrichment/advancement program on the Bethel campus.

The boys are members of collectives in the Soviet Union which are working to teach the country's youth about market economics.

Butenko and his mother and father visited Gould Academy in the winter as they traveled through the eastern United States.

Vica Butenko, Stephen's mother, is the president of the Association of Youth Cooperatives in the Soviet Union. Both boys speak English and have requested courses in Intermediate Algebra and Field Biology.

The 19-year-old Gould Academy Summer School Program for talented, motivated students attracted youngsters from seven foreign countries and 12 different states last year.

Course offerings span the academic disciplines and the arts, and include a hands-on course in robotics and a course conducted jointly with the Hurricane Island Outward Bound School.

BOUND FOR ANNAPOLIS—Brenda Taylor, a 1989 graduate of Telstar and Gould Academy Alger Scholar, accepts congratulations recently from Charles Newell, her advisor and Gould Academy, left, and John Todd, Gould's director of development. Taylor has received an appointment to the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md.

Brenda Taylor Annapolis-bound

Brenda June Taylor, daughter of Wayne E. Taylor of Bethel, has received an appointment to the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md.

A 1989 graduate of Telstar High School, Brenda turned down offers to attend Middlebury College, University of Maine, and Maine Maritime Academy in order to pursue the dream she had had for years.

She applied for and received the Alger Scholarship at Gould Academy which provides financial aid to a senior or post-graduate student who is seeking admittance into one of the four U.S. service academies.

The scholarship was established in 1980 by the late Lieutenant General James D. Alger, U.S. Army and his wife Consuelo Z. Alger of Bethel. She had asked for the appointment from Senators George Mitchell and William Cohen and from Representative Olympia Snowe.

Word arrived last week from Senator Cohen's office that she would be attending the Academy under his sponsorship.

Brenda joins a select group of about 1,300 men and women who will be sworn in as midshipmen in July.

She competed with over 13,000 who sought appointments and joins a group of the nation's youth whose college board scores, academic achievements, and strong character traits placed them in the very top echelons of high school graduates.

While at Gould Academy this year, Brenda has continued the outstanding performance she achieved at Telstar. She excelled on the cross country trails in the fall, participated in the Gould Ski Patrol program during the winter, and has taken to the softball field this spring wearing the uniform of Blue and Gold.

Earlier in the week, Associate Headmaster Harry "Dutch" Dresser announced that she and nine other Gould students had achieved status as members of the Top Ten Graduates at Gould Academy this year.

John Todd, Gould's director of development and a career naval officer and Charles Newell, Brenda's advisor at Gould, and member of the Science Department, and a former United States Marine, presented the certificate of appointment to Brenda at an assembly program last week.

Brenda is the second Alger Scholar from Bethel to journey to Annapolis for the rigorous four year program. David Kersey, son of Tim and Judy Kersey, is finishing up his second year at the Academy this spring.

They are terrific.

Mrs. Shim's first grade class will also be on hand to present their play, "When Is Spring?" We hope you can come to the Grange Hall at 7:30 p.m. to see our children in action.

Bethel Police Chief Brian Stowell will be visiting the W.P.T.O. on Tuesday evening to talk about the DARE program.

Gould grad receives top 1990 U.S. Biathlon award

Former Gould Academy nordic captain Ben Michaud, of Bethel, last week received the Walter Williams Award for the outstanding junior biathlete of 1990 by the United States Biathlon Association. The award carries with it a $250 grant to be used for training or tuition costs.

The 19-year-old Junior National Champion also received a $475 shooting incentive grant from the National Shooting Sports Foundation, based on total targets hit and races without misses, in the tough winter Olympic sport which combines cross-country skiing and .22 marksmanship.

Michaud cemented the awards with an impressive win in the 15 kilometer event of the North American Championships in Calgary in February, in which he hit 14 of 15 total targets. His coach, Kirk Siegel, who works at Gould Academy and who is an international coach for the U.S. Biathlon Team, put the feat into perspective: "Ben's ability to shoot 93 percent in an international event at his age is an indication that he can succeed at the World Cup level. The shooting incentive money was a neat surprise for Ben, who never really considered the monetary award while training and competing."

Michaud plans to attend college in the fall, and hopes to train in Sweden with coach Siegel and other members of the Gould Academy biathlon squad in August.

planting it again. I also didn't buy a tree so I'm just helping one grow. I thought that the special was really neat. It scares me to think that the world is coming to an end. That's why I am encouraging everyone to recycle.

Last week my dad came home with a new car. It was an '89 Eagle. It is silver and maroon inside. We all love it so I guess we are going to buy it.

Well, I hope that you will have a wonderful week.

A week in the life

of HILLARY HARRISON

Hello, how do you do! (In Japan they would say konichiwa, which means good day). I learned that last week in school. We had to memorize 15 words. I did pretty good on the quiz, I think.

What did everyone do for Earth Day?

I started a recycling plant in our garage. I ate two apples and planted the seeds, and my mom's begonia froze so I tried

Project Wild workshops set in Western Maine

Project Wild is a supplementary curriculum designed to integrate wildlife and conservation education into existing curricula and programs.

The first workshop will be on Saturday, May 12 at Mt. Blue State Park in Weld.

The second workshop will be on Saturday, May 19 at the Maine Conservation School in Bryant Pond.

The entire May 19 session will be a special Project Wild—Aquatic workshop. Participants must pre-register by writing or calling Chuck Hulsey at the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, RFD 3, Box 3770, Farmington, Me. 04938. The telephone number is 778-3324.

Family recycling days set for May 5, May 12

"Reduce It! Reuse It! Don't abuse It!" is the theme of a recycling workshop designed for the entire family on Saturday, May 5 at the Maine Conservation School in Bryant Pond.

The day's activities will begin at 8:30 a.m. with registration, refreshments, and an opportunity to view a number of displays.

A variety of workshops for both children and adults will be held throughout the morning, addressing such issues as household toxics, recycling and composting.

Participants will have an opportunity to take part in games, songs, skits and a nature walk. Activities will end at noon and participants are invited to bring a picnic lunch to enjoy on the lakeside.

The family recycling workshop is open to the public, free of charge, but pre-registration is required. For more information, or to pre-register, call the Extension Office at 743-6329, or the Conservation School at 665-2068.

And on Saturday, May 12 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Bethel Recycling Center in front of the Ambulance Barn on Cross Street, the Bethel Solid Waste and Recycling Committee will also hold a Family Recycling Day.

There will be music and entertainment for all ages. Every resident who drops off recyclables will be given a raffle ticket to win prizes.

INVESTING IN FUTURE HARVEST—Area students of the Class of 1999 last Tuesday prepared to plant trees for harvest in their senior year, to help pay for their graduation activities.

Students plan tree-planting grid for 1999 harvest

Eighty-seven third graders from three elementary schools in Bethel's SAD #44 met at the "Kids for Trees" lot on Route 26 last Tuesday to participate in activities preparing students for next week's Christmas tree planting.

The tree lot is on land owned by P.H. Chadbourne & Co.

In its second year of operation, "Kids for Trees" is a program that involves students planting trees in the spring of their third grade year, caring for the trees in grades four to twelve, then selling the Christmas trees in their senior year.

All proceeds from the three sale will be put toward graduation activities in June of 1999.

At the site this week the future class of 1999 was involved in three different activities.

The primary purpose was to measure a two-centimeter square for each student's tree. The planting grid will have 110 squares when measuring is completed.

Donna Pearce, forester from Boise Cascade of Rumford helped students with this activity.

A second activity for the students was to tour the tree lot and make a map of what is there. Students must work up a map key to show what their symbols represent.

Each classroom teacher helped her class in this task.

The third activity was a lesson on conifer identification presented by Jim Chandler, educational coordinator for the Oxford County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Students toured the lot in search of conifers and were supplied samples of the 10 conifer trees common in Maine.

A conifer identification information sheet was given students to become familiar with earlier in the classroom.

Shirley Merrill, third grade coordinator for the district "Kids for Trees" program, sees many educational opportunities for students involved in this program for the next nine years.

"Look what happened out here in the hour and a half. Kids had a math lesson on metric measurement, a social studies project on making a map, and a science lesson on tree identification," she said.

Third grade fall by making fundraising plans. Money comes from contributions from area wood mills and civic organizations and from selling pencils.

Contributors are Bethel Furniture Stock, Bethel Mundt-Allen Post #1 of the American Legion, and the Bethel Rotary.

Boise Cascade of Rumford supplied notebooks for every third and fourth grader to keep all data and information about their trees in for the next nine years.

Andover to participate in proposal for federal substance abuse grant

By BARBARA ADAMS

Former Andover selectman Jane Rich appeared at the Andover selectmen's meeting April 24 to seek their participation in a proposal for a grant sought by the Western Region Council on Alcoholism from the Office of Substance Abuse Prevention in Washington D.C.

The selectmen agreed to write a letter outlining both the town's problems and needs. The letter will be forwarded with letters from other Maine towns and agencies who will join in a partnership or coalition to organize a central clearing house to handle drug and substance abuse if the grant is awarded.

Rich is part of a task force trying to achieve this end. Although the WCA would receive the grant if awarded, moneys spent would be decided locally.

Putting their former dispute behind them, members of Andover's Recreation Committee and the selectmen met in a spirit of cooperation to discuss upcoming summer projects, and just what the Recreation Committee's responsibilities are in policing the recreational areas of the town.

Present from the Recreation Committee were Sharon Hutchins, Paula Smith, Trudy Akers, and youth member Sean Hawkes.

Selectman William Maselli told the group, "We want to assist your projects coming up this summer and support the Recreation Committee any way we can. Let us know how we can help." He praised the committee for their involvement.

Chairman of the Selectmen Fred Emerson told the committee, "You are just as responsible as the selectmen in policing the town recreation areas. If you see anyone where they shouldn't be, speak to them."

Selectman Brian Mills, also a member of the Recreation Committee, outlined the preparations being made for the start of Little League season May 1, including regripping the bats, new uniforms, and fill for the ball field.

The committee also decided to bring the old tennis court net in for repairs in order to have a spare.

Sharon Hutchins will post signs on the tennis court restricting the use of the court for tennis only.

Recreation committee member Paula Smith stated that SAD #44 physical education director Barbara Dunham will present a two-week summer recreational program in Andover for Grades 1 through 8, beginning July 23.

Other activities under discussion are a horseshoe tournament, a shooting organization for youth, and a winter carnival. A skating rink is also being considered.

"We have all sorts of ideas we are looking into," Hutchins said. Principal Karen Robinson of Andover School has agreed in the last three issues of the school update this year to list all the available recreational activities for both youth and adults.

Maselli told the committee he believed their budget should be used for activity expenses rather than maintenance of recreational areas, and that the selectmen would adjust the accounts accordingly.

Recreation Committee youth member Sean Hawkes told the board that May 12 is clean-up day by students of the Andover School and anyone else in the school district who is interested. Areas to be cleaned are the tennis court, baseball, and basketball courts.

Road commissioner Wilbur Cheney suggested that Boy Scouts in Andover be asked about cleaning small items approaching the dump areas, and a donation to their organization be made by the town.

At the selectmen's request David Hawkes submitted a blueprint of possible renovations to the Town Hall in order to accommodate a town office.

"I like it (the plan) the way it stands," Emerson said, and the other selectmen agreed. Hawkes will receive $250 for his services.

The plan, along with an expansion plan of the present town office, will be presented at a town meeting, with bids to be sought in advance on both projects.

Bids are also being sought for fuel used by town vehicles, covering of the dump, and use of back hoes, road graders, bulldozers and other equipment when needed in the town.

The selectmen learned that $1,000 worth of tools were stolen from a State Cable T.V. truck parked at the town garage over the weekend. The state police are investigating.

The selectmen voted unanimously to seek a contract with the County Commissioners' office for the presence of a sheriff in Andover at hours to be decided. The next Commissioners' meeting is May 15, and a clear-cut contract will be drawn up by the selectmen before that date. The presence of a sheriff will cost the town $12.60 per hour.

The selectmen agreed that town real estate re-evaluation figures are not public information as yet, and will not be disclosed to residents until the entire town re-evaluation is completed in the fall.

The re-evaluation figures will take effect next year.

A decision will be reached at the next selectmen's meeting as to whether the town will sign the agreement with Blue Rock Industries as proposed by attorney Curtis Webber in regard to unsatisfactory paving of East B Hill.

Department of Transportation engineer David Ames and a DOT paving specialist will review the roads with Emerson this week.

Ames' presence was at the suggestion of the Maine Local Roads Center, who had told Administrative Assistant Rebecca Schachter that they preferred not to get involved in pending litigation.

Finally, the selectmen voted to pay $50 to allow Schachter to become a notary public.

There is also the possibility of a trip to Des Moines on Sunday, she said.

The local OM champs are: Caitlin Bass, Katie Chapman, Missy Gaskey, Martha Grover, Julie Ludnum, and Karen Wheeler.

They will be accompanied on their trip to Iowa by Jean Bass, Donna Richard, Walter Hatch, Margaret Wheeler, Helen Dennis, Alta Ludnum, and Nancy, Daniel and Lydia Grover.

And, of course, by their championship mannikin, Johnny B. Goodenough.

They will be accompanied on their five-day trip by their coaches, as well as by some parents and grandparents (who will be paying their own way).

The group is scheduled to leave CPS by school bus at 8:30 on Wednesday morning, May 30, and drive to Logan Airport in Boston. From there they will fly to Iowa.

The group will be staying at dormitories at the university, along with other OM contestants from around the world.

On Thursday the team will take part in Opening Day ceremonies and a parade, and on Friday they will compete. Nancy Grover, who has coordinated the SAD #44 OM effort since its inception 3 years ago, said the youngsters will spend their free time meeting other contestants, watching them perform, and swapping pens, stickers and other such items.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

May is the month when country folks hasten to prepare the soil and plant their garden seeds, again confident that the sun and moisture and in good time good earth will yield bounties for their needs.

Long ago horses plodded up and down the fields making long ribbons of the moist brown soil. Now it's a tractor that makes the soil curl away from a glistening share and develops patterns, as the machine chugs along, speeding the farmer's work.

Beyond the fields pushing outward and upward the leaves on beeches, oaks, maples and birches have appeared.

A gnarled old apple tree becomes a mass of white blossoms. Somewhere the sunbeams buds have begun to swell on scraggy twisted branches.

The farm brook whispers, where grasses have pushed above the frost-tanned winter growth.

Lilacs, which have stood for years by old cellar holes, are pushing buds and leaves to become beauties on the hill side.

The song of the sparrow has returned and the sweetness of other birds, I saw the extrovert, the flicker, yesterday.

When other birds are tuning melodious arrangements; this goldenwing callously interrupts with his loud, monotonous performance. His notes repeat themselves for long periods. If one is close enough

Songo Pond

By ALICE KIMBALL

A graveside service in memory of Arthur Kimball will be held at the Songo Cemetery Friday morning, May 4, at 10 a.m.

The Songo Cemetery cleanup and annual meeting will be Saturday, May 12, 9 a.m. to noon or if raining, Sunday, (p.m.), May 13.

Norma and David Salway spent the day last Saturday with Brandon and Tara in Portland and Old Orchard Beach.

Jack and Eleanor Parsons were in Lewiston for an appointment with her eye doctor Thursday.

Mrs. Elmina Doyen rode to Norway Friday with daughter Connie.

It was nice to see a light across the pond a few nights recently at the Mill's cottage.

What a welcome pleasant change in the weather. Thursday where the temperature reached the high 80's and 90 some places. A very pleasant surprise to me Friday evening when Dotti, Herbie, and Erin from Hanover and Ethel, Craig, Amber, David and Jonathan came with birthday cake and ice cream lest I forget another milestone. With Norma and David a lovely way to end my day.

Grieving group to meet

The Guidance in Grieving Group will meet May 3 from 6 to 8 p.m. in the Cynthia A. Rydholm Cancer Treatment Center at Central Maine Medical Center.

The Guidance in Grieving Group is a support group for people who have recently suffered the death of a loved one.

Rev. Dr. C. Richard Sheesley, director of Pastoral Care at CMMC, serves as a facilitator for the group.

On Thursday, May 3 at 6 p.m. the Awana Grand Prix will be held at the Woodstock Elementary School.

On Thursday, May 10 at 6 p.m. at the Awana Room will be the Awana Awards and Supper night.

Earle Noyes, Ray Burnham and Robert Billings have all done much work at the Historical Museum lately. Many items, large and small are already upstairs. Tools predominate so far, but there are other items as well.

When you visit after the museum opens, around Memorial Day, try to visualize something you could give that would fit in well.

Curator Larry Billings has been busy doing some cataloging and filing for the museum.

The May meeting of the Historical Society, to be held on May 12, is on logging in the 1930's.

The Woodstock Senior Citizens will meet at the Grange Hall on Thursday, May 3. The Grange will put on the dinner and Michael Perry of L.L. Bean will present the program 'Beautiful Coast of Maine.'

On Monday, May 7 the Franklin Grange #124 will meet at 7:30 p.m., with the elementary school children from Woodstock putting on the program. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

The Woodstock High School Alumni Association will meet on Tuesday, May 8 at the home of Ruth Tyler at 7 p.m. It will be a tasting party. Final plans will be made for the banquet to be held June 9 at Telstar High School. Invitations will be written to 70, 80 and 90-year alumni and Telstar seniors from Woodstock and Greenwood.

West Bethel

By CONSTANCE BROADBENT

Dear Dorothy Alice,
It's already May and I haven't sent you your April birthday wishes. Can you ever forgive me?... good. My intentions are much better than my memory, as you know. So please accept these belated good wishes and do not wait by the mail box for the package.

This past week, while we were busy with farewell suppers, ladies' luncheons, and the like, the weather turned from slightly spring to something like summer. Where last week there were still patches of snow and slush, there are now croci (that's one crocus after another) abloom, daffodils in bud, daylilies poking up, and bluebirds checking into their condos. Here and there a freshly tilled garden stands brown and ready; windrows are rife with seedlings in starter pots, ready for transplanting whenever the "go" is given. The budded trees and shrubs are letting their leaves out at last.

Despite the warmth, the ovens of West Bethel have been working double shifts. A goodly group of well-wishers gathered recently in the dining room of the Union Church to share a last fellowship supper with Rev. Norman Rust and his wife, Betty, serving in the capacity of minister and wife. The Rusts will soon assume the role of regular parishioners, as Norman turns in his robes and his crook and takes his place in the congregation. The assembled membership presented the couple with tourmaline tokens and wished them both godspeed as they contemplate yet another "passage."

Later in the week, the women of the Chapel Aid Society hosted a luncheon for women of Bethel area churches. This was the second of its kind in as many weeks; the ladies of Andover had just held a delightful chicken dish "do" that included a presentation on Local Indian Artifacts by Archer Poor. Presiding the West Bethel soup was a slide show provided by Ginny Keniston, Sylvia Wright, and Jim Brown. Ginny took us to the Arctic Circle and back with pictures and commentary on the 14,500 miles covered on a trip to Alaska. Sylvia entertained us with coverage of the recent pairing of folks from Newry, Me. and Newry, Ireland on "the old sod." And Jim Brown shared his memories of two trips to Longwood Gardens in Pennsylvania and the Norfolk Botanical Gardens. He then bravely joined the 57 women in attendance for lunch and the ladies' point of view.

In the "comings and goings" department: Roberta and Casandra Perez, daughter and granddaughter of Arthur and Ruth Gilbert, took a recent weekend trip with Melanie Stowell (another grand daughter of A. and R.) to Shirley, Mass., as you may recall, is a current resident of West Bethel and Gould Academy enrollee. Meanwhile, yet another granddaughter of you-know-who, the famous Jane Head, returned to her birthplace for a brief hiatus from her studies at U. Maine, Farmington. She did not, however, get to see her girl cousins, as they were on the above-mentioned jaunt.

PASSING THE BUCK—Gilead Selectman and Fire Chief Jim Sweetser closes the deal for two of Greenwood's old fire trucks, which will be put back to use by Gilead's revived volunteer fire department. The town also purchased a mobile truck radio from Greenwood, and established a mutual-aid agreement. Greenwood Selectman and Assistant Fire Chief Raymond Seames, far left, and Chief Cubby Swan accepted the check from Sweetser and fellow Selectman Ken Cole, far right.

While the Gilbert girls were passing as ships in the night, the neighbors, Dick and Jane Hosterman were off on a trip to Hershey, Penn. Jane's assignment, as President of the Bethel Area Health Center Board of Directors, was to attend a two day seminar on "Assurance of Quality Care." The 12 hours of discussion focused on the "wave of the future" which predicts that the "best health providers will be those that offer best quality care, rather than the best price."

According to "Nurse Jane," evaluations will yield mandates that will upgrade services provided in an attempt to "bring better care through cost effectiveness, reduced risks, and reduced liabilities in order to improve the health of the individual, the group and the community."

The Hosterman genealogical research team took a side trip to amble the archives of Lancaster County in search of some very older Hostermans, and then it was on to the Hershey chocolate factory to see just how they manage to get the chocolate on the underside of each heavenly bar.

So, Dear Aunt and Godmother Extraordinaire, that was the week as it was in West Bethel. It's on to laying of the railroad ties, digging out one more garden, getting ready for sowing. Where all winter we prepare the beds for skiers, now we prepare the beds for dahlias and other favorite flora. Sometime, during the flurry of activity, we'll get down to Gray to clean out the mothballs in anticipation of the grand opening. Let us know when Mrs. Floyd plans to head north. We'll be ready with the antepus and the bug spray.

Meanwhile, give gentle hugs to all. Tell Claire that I think of her often as I travel the roads of my memory.

Love, C.B.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank all of my co-workers at the Bethel Savings Bank, friends and family for all their support, gifts of food, flowers and well wishes during my recent hospitalization and recovery at home.

Bethel

By VIRGINIA WALKER

Mrs. Carole Sillsby, Josh and Ross of Eliot visited her mother, Tess Martin at Sudbury Village recently.

Elizabeth Morse, Connie Blanchard, Scott, Carole Sillsby, Josh and Ross were Easter guests of Tess Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Crockett, Mr. and Mrs. David Crockett, Ray and Shawn have returned from a two week trip to Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Walker visited Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Poore in Rochester, N.H., last Sunday.

The Bethel Senior Citizens are planning a trip to Cathedral River in Rindge, N.H., June 27. Watch this paper for more announcements concerning this trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Littlefield, Jr., Machias spent last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Littlefield.

Mrs. Priscilla Kjellman and Larson spent some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Drew Webster recently.

Several ladies from the Bethel Gospel Center attended the Women's Missionary Prayer Fellowship Retreat in Madison, N.H., last Friday and Saturday.

Newry

By GIL SEELEY

Services were held at the Newry Community church April 22 with Pastor Rodney Hanscom's message "Conserve for the Future," daughter Nancy at the organ. Scripture readings: Genesis 1:9-19, Acts 2:14, 22-32.

The West Bethel Church luncheon was well represented by various members of other churches on April 25. Beef stew, salads, hot bread and creamy dessert was enjoyed. Also slides taken in Ireland, Washington, D.C., old Speck Mountain, Step Falls, etc. were shown by Sylvia Wright. Ginny Keniston showed some of Alaska and Jim Brown shared his trips to Pennsylvania and the Norfolk Botanical Gardens. Olive Anderson, Rena Powers and Freda Robertson were there to enjoy also.

Bowling at Oxford Lanes, Rumford last week were Betsy Clark, Karlene Bachelder, Julie Littlefield, Louise Tetley, Eleanor Davis, Bea Lowell, and Gil Seeley. Betsy was high on the singles with one string of 113, and Karlene high on the triples with 311. Remember the Newry Church Ladies Circle Food Sale at the I.G.A. May 18 at 9:30-10 a.m. The Circle will meet at Olive Anderson's Monday, May 7 at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Bachelder, Mr. and Mrs. Arlan Littlefield and their two children, Julie and Jody were in Stratton last week visiting with Reg's father who celebrated his 88th birthday.

April 21-May 21 children of the sign taurus have a materialistic, physical nature, they love food, soft blankets and pillows.

Upton

By ARLINE BERNIER

The town clerk advises that notices will be going out to taxpayers who have unpaid town taxes. These notices are a forerunner of liens on property.

Dean and Pam Merchant who have recently purchased the grange hall spent several days there cleaning and fixing it up.

Violette Bernier returned her grandchildren to their home in New Hampshire and went on to Carlisle, Mass., for several days before returning home.

Carlene Wilmer of Magalloway came this week to do the census in Upton. We had received a short form so had to answer lots more questions. I hope she will send in news of the upper settlements as there's been too long a silence.

Jos. Bergeron and his cousin Jerry Bernier recently spent several days with his grandmother French in Rochester, N.H.

My cookie swap was almost a cookie flop as far as attendance was concerned. I am considering inviting Upton women to discuss starting some sort of a ladies' group, but will wait to hear the residents' pros or cons before I go further. I'll appreciate your input and your sounding out those who perhaps don't subscribe to the Citizen.

High Street

By VIVA WHITMAN

A cloudy morning after three lovely days of sunshine and warm weather. Of course we wish it could have been more but got to be thankful for that much and it sure was nice. Took advantage of it and got out walking what I could. The trees are budding and it really is beginning to look like Spring.

Got lots of birds out here but haven't seen any blue birds as yet. Of course, the father bird got killed last summer by flying against the electric wires. However, mother bird raised her young and they left and we haven't seen anything of a bluebird since. We keep hoping they will come use the nest boxes Russell has out but have been disappointed where that is concerned until those last year. In talking with Mary Lovejoy she said they have had bluebirds for some time and guess others have also. Just have to hope some will decide to come here and build a nest.

Russell was working in the garden these past two days and has gotten some peas planted at last. The weather has been such that he couldn't get onto the garden to do so any sooner. Got the big garden up back to care for but he hasn't attempted that as yet. The ground up there is still so soft and with all the rain it might clog up the times of the rototiller so not doing it just yet but soon we hope. Russell has planted seeds to start in his cold frame and they are coming up so he will have things to transplant and that is a job with lots of knee work. Hard on the arthritic knees as many know. He does like to get outside to work though and has the yard raked pretty well. Put the leaves on the garden and rototilled them in for fertilizer and it helps more than one would think.

Forgot to say last week that Myrna and Bernard White of Auburn have gotten home from their winter in Arizona and enjoy it there very much. When we went down to have dinner with Wynona the other Sunday, Peggy went over and visited with them as they had just gotten home the night before. Came home in four days so didn't waste any time on the road. In fact, it was Easter Sunday we were in Auburn visiting and they had gotten home on Saturday night after leaving Arizona Wednesday morning.

Had my car in the garage last week for oil change and lube job. Have had a tire that has kept giving down slowly and have finally gotten that fixed also. Always something wrong if one has a car.

Was in North Bridgton last Thursday for treatment. My arches are bothering badly and makes my back bother more so trying to get them to stay where they belong. If it isn't one thing it is another. Thursday night, Russell, Peggy and I went to West Paris Grange and as Kariann was up for a couple of days she went with us. It was C.W.A. night and a nice crowd there for the meeting and program. We put on a skit for the program to help out. Had a nice time.

Went for groceries and other errands on Friday morning and about noon time Wynona came for Kariann to go home. All had dinner with us before going. Courtney had stayed home to go to see her mother graduate from her square dance classes and guests by what they said it was a good time for all there. No dancing on Friday night for Russell and Peggy but they went to West Summer on Saturday night and kicked up their heels. Sunday, Peggy went to West Bethel to visit her daughter Loretta and family for a while.

Guess I'm getting old and forgetful as Peggy went to Market Square Nursing Home with Charlotte Cole and they entertained for a while then they went to visit friends of Charlotte.

While Peggy was gone that day, Myrna and Bernard White came to visit her and as she wasn't home they came in and visited with us awhile. Glad to see them.

Friday was the day Myrna and Bernard White came to take Peggy for a ride in the new car they came home in, a Lincoln Continental of all things. What a life! Too much going on to remember it all I guess. Peggy has been so busy going places I can't keep up with her. Of course, Tuesday was her day for going to the two stores she works at putting up cards and keeping them in order. Late afternoon yesterday saw us on our way to Fryeburg where I had a treatment on my jaws to see if I could get some help as they have been painin' me bad and swell up some. This dentist does treatments that no one else that I know of does and helps a lot. Of course he had to tell me last night that I was a basket case but couldn't tell me what kind of a basket it was. Arthritis can make one have lots of trouble in their jaws as well as anywhere else and that is the case with me. No part left to behave itself I guess.

Don't know how much I have left out but the paper has filled up fast this morning and it is time to call it quits. Don't forget the public supper at West Paris Grange hall on May 5, put on by the Fireman's Auxiliary and the dance later in the evening at the same place.

May 3 is West Paris Grange meeting with a Mother's Day program with a couple of speakers. Should be a good program.

Jay Whittemore and Jeannine Lowe called on Mary Saturday.

Mary went to Skowhegan with Marcia

At Andover...

Calvary Congregational Church
In Sunday School on April 22, Marge Stinson read scripture from Proverbs 8:17 "I love them that love me; and those that seek me early shall find me." As an example of how our Lord uses children of all ages to proclaim the Bible's truth. She used candles to illustrate this truth. Our guests were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen McNally and son Aaron. His message: "The Responsibility of a Believer." Romans 12:1-2.

George and Barbara Bethel and family were in New York City for the school break. Mrs. Ruth B. Bethel, Mr. Bethel's mother, returned with them for the summer.

I spoke with Myra Foster this week. She is doing very well and would like to return home soon. Her address if you would like to write her is: R.F.D. 2, Box 1390, Bryant Pond, 04219, c/o Mrs. Richard Stearns.

Mrs. Judy Smith of Bucksport visited Chester and Arlene Harrington on April 17 and spent the night with them. Lee Clayton Bartlett and a friend from Kennebunk visited Lillian and Dorothy Bartlett Sunday and went up to his farm to do yardwork.

I am going to try to be the East Bethel correspondent. If anybody has news to put in the paper, call me Wednesday or Thursday afternoon at 824-3350.

West Paris

By MIRIAM INMAN

I hope people remember that the Fireman's Auxiliary supper is on Saturday, May 5, at the West Paris Grange Hall 5:30-8:30 p.m. There will be the usual beans, casseroles, salads and pies.

On May 8, the E.B. Forbes-Goodwill Group will be having their May sale at the bank building from 9 a.m. until noon. There will be sandwiches, coffee, pies, etc., and craft items for sale.

Mary Bessey, Livermore, spent a couple of days with her sister, Ann Procter and family this week. Ivan's and Ann's daughter Dorene Merrill is a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital following surgery.

Gordon Doughty is still unable to return to work after a knee injury at work six weeks ago.

Missionary Moments: We received a letter from the Gospel Missionary Union, Missionary in West Africa where construction of new churches, as the truth of God is proclaimed.

North Paris

By DORIS C. LAWRENCE

Saturday, May 5 there will be a supper at the West Paris Grange Hall put on by the West Paris Fireman's Auxiliary and in the evening a dance upstairs. Richard Felt and Co. prizes and homemade pies.

Saturday, May 19 a flea market and food sale at West Paris Grange Hall. $2 to rent a table, call Mary Lovejoy at 674-2147.

Madge Vatcher went with Roberta Islesley to Nova Scotia to take Kate back. They arrived back home Thursday.

Friday, April 28, Mrs. Florence Islesley returned home by Tri-Town from Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Thursday, April 26, I called on Dora Lawrence, Charles and Melinda and Polly Lawrence at East Stoneham, then to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heath Jr.'s. for Amanda Heath's eighth birthday supper and party. Jeanne Millett, Mr. and Mrs. Roger LaCroix, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Thayer and Jason, Jeremy Heath and her parents. A nice supper with cake and ice cream. Amanda and Jeremy have a new kitten that gets a lot of attention.

Friday, April 27, what a change in the weather—really "warm." I have got my fan going. Good weather to go smelting, at least it's not freezing.

Callers have been Dot Canwell, Kim Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Thayer, left Jason with me Sunday afternoon, April 22. We visited Marietta Penley and Barbara Felt so he saw the cows and chickens. Also calling were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Millett, Sandra Coffin, Joe Vatcher, Howard Anderson, Richard Felt, Fannie Whitten.

Northwest Bethel

By CLARICE GIBSON

We are finally having spring-like weather. The trees are budding, the grass is turning green, and the large patch of bloodroot out back is in full bloom. Also, have May flowers in bloom. Sunday was the beginning of a good week. Monday afternoon Frankie brought up Karen and Sarah Page, Kristin and James William came and my sister, Iva and Don Holden stopped in for a few minutes. Wednesday, Frank went with Frankie to Bessey Motors for a regular checkup and Thursday we went to Portland (Frank, George and I) on business and after ate at Valley's Steak House.

Pat and Jack Greig had for Easter dinner Pat's sister Linda and Ronnie York of Bar Mills, Roberta, David, Shawn, and Sheena Hunt and Melodie Hunt of Bethel. Later in the afternoon Jack and Christine Morton of Newry stopped by. Frank and Sid Murphy had on April 17 Eric, Dave, and Dave of Durham, N.H., who had come up for skiing and went back Wednesday. The Murphy's daughter, August Murphy, of East Sebago, came April 14. Frank, Sid and August left for Dracut, Mass., to Paul and Edie Greenberg for Easter, went to church and had dinner before heading home. Frank and granddaughter spent Thursday fishing with no luck. On April 21, Paul Greenberg and friend, Dave of Dracut, Mass., came and stayed until Sunday morning. On April 22, Dean and Vickie Murphy came Sunday to pick up their daughter and stayed for dinner.

David and Nancy Annis left on April 20 for Westfield, Mass., to visit David's sister, Sheila Marcotte and family. David's uncle, Oscar and Louise Annis, also went. Louise and Sheila went to an antique and collectible show at Eastern State Exposition grounds in Springfield, Mass.

April 19, Linda, Seth and Jon Howe went up to Gorham, N.H., park with Marilyn, Dion, Mickey and Sarah Swan of Sunday River and Wade Osmond, Gina, Brandon and Bronson Douglas joined the others at the park. The gang all went to

Mr. Pizza for lunch. On April 21, Barry and Robin Nevel came to the Howe home for dinner and a movie. Sunday, Bud and Joan Howe joined their son, Bob and family for dinner. Bud and Joan Howe recently returned from a nine day trip to Hawaii and San Francisco, Calif.

Dawn Seames, daughter of Debbie Seames, had the misfortune to fall Monday, April 16 and sprained her ankle as well as tear off ligaments. Debbie took Dawn that day to outpatient at Stephens Memorial. On April 17, Ryan Seames went to Kevin Marshall's and spent the night. Thursday, April 19 Dawn went back to Dr. Smith's in Norway and he put her foot in an air cast. The same day Ryan Seames went to his friend Eddie's birthday party. The guests went to Mollycodd Motel swimming and then back to Eddie's mothers, Joan Ward and had a pizza party. Rusty Seames went to visit his friend, Jon Shaw.

On April 23, Joyce Stearns went to Rumford Community Hospital to visit her Aunt, Vivian Barlow. Dan and Karen Bean with son, Matthew went to Baltimore, Md., to visit their son, Nathan, at John Hopkins University. Dan and Karen also went to Eastern Shores for a couple of days while Matthew stayed at the home with his brother. The Bean's stopped in to see different family members coming and going.

On April 15, Chuckie Mason and family spent the night at Dunham, N.H., with Kathy's sister, Carol and John Wentworth and family. The next day the Mason family visited the New England Aquarium in Boston, Mass. The family all enjoyed themselves.

Saturday, Chuck, Kathy Mason and Pastor John went to Youth Convention at South Portland Nazarene Church.

Amy Lehan, daughter of John and Sue Lehan, spent three days during vacation in Orono visiting U. of M. Her brother, Chris, goes there and Amy is expecting to go in another year.

Dennis Smith's daughter, Kaylee, spent Saturday with Homer and Edie (Gram and Grandpa).

Rollie and Phil Gilnes with their son,

Greg, Sarah and Kevin of Randolph, N.H., flew to Florida to attend the wedding of Rollie and Phil's grandson, Mark who is in the Air Force stationed at California, but the wedding was at Fort Lauderdale as his wife was from there. The garden wedding was also at the hotel. Kevin was his brother's best man. They were gone two weeks and some of the other places they visited were Miami, Homestead, Epcoot and other places of interest. At Homestead Rollie visited an old buddy he hadn't seen for years. They said you could go by orange groves that had been struck by the frost last winter and see acres of dead trees. Some owners said that they would try again while some of the older people said before the trees would get established it would be too late for them to be able to care for.

Dick, Sue Angevine had a Sunday cookout on April 22. Guests were Rick, Terry, Kristy, Dusty, Sam, Manuel and Tana. Later in the day Dick's uncle Carl and Aunt Carrie Holt of Berlin, N.H., visited.

Barbara MacDougall went back into the hospital April 25 to room 354. She was operated on April 26.

Martha, Glenn Bangs and family of Dresden had a family get-together on April 22. Dr. Leonard Shaw, Becky, Jon and Jen; Peter, Stacey and Elise of Turner and Bob and Ginny Keniston, who also picked up their grandchildren, Heath and Heather Keniston in Norway.

Jon and Jen Shaw are playing on the farm team at C.P.S.

Stan and Althea Brown went on April 16 and April 20 to Vassalboro to help their grandson Andy and wife move into their new home.

Evelyn Hilborn is glad to be back in Maine from her home in Toronto, Canada. Evelyn celebrated her birthday on April 26 at Frances Farnum's. They had a lovely lunch and she received lovely gifts. Also attending were Bertha Flanders, Locke Mills and Louie Coffin, West Paris. She also received remembrances from other friends. Sarah Collidge had cleaned up around Evelyn's that was done when she arrived.

Rollie and Phil Gilnes with their son,

Phoebes have once again arrived and are getting ready for nesting. Since arriving home she had a long call from her brother in Hamilton, Ontario, and the weather was in the 90's.

A sorrow shared is a sorrow halved.

School vacation is over and the teachers and children are back in school as of Monday, April 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews were over Sunday in the afternoon. They helped me with the clearing up the brush from the trees which the wind had blown off and the turf which was plowed up this winter, and the wood box is full again. It is so good of them to help me.

Lenwood Andrews returned from Florida this week. Becky, his daughter, was over to see her father.

The Miclons were back Sunday night from their trip to Washington, D.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks and I went to Pleasant Pond Grange at West Summer Wednesday night. This was CWA night with a good attendance. April 21 was retired teachers at South Paris Universalist Church. Lettie took a load of teachers to the meeting.

Thursday night Carl, Lettie and I were at West Paris CWA meeting and filled offices.

The Historical Society is reporting many items have been placed upstairs at this date. A group have been working upstairs to fix it as a showroom for all to visit. As they are still receiving many articles, books, etc. for this Society they needed more space.

The Historical's next meeting will be May 12 when the feature will be a film on logging operations in the 30's.

FRANCIS W. MILLS

Francis W. Mills, 68, died Friday, April 27, 1990 at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway.

He was born in Norway, Feb. 12, 1922, the son of O'Neal Mills and Luella Lord. He was educated in Woodstock area schools, and worked for more than 30 years at Ecco Wood Products in Bryant Pond. He was a member of Jefferson Masonic Lodge 100, a member of the American Legion Post 68, and was the assistant chief of the Woodstock Fire Department for many years.

Mills was in the U.S. Navy from 1944-46. He lived in Bryant Pond all his life, and married M.V. Jean O'Leary on July 22, 1941.

He is survived by his wife of Bryant Pond; two sons, Kevin Mills of Bryant Pond, and Joseph Mills of Boston, Mass.; six daughters, Eva Mae Mills of Buckfield, Katherine Giunta of Boston, Mass., Frances Tyler of Bethel, Jean Kinnam of Amsterdam, N.Y., and Karen MacKenzie of Pepperell, Mass.; a brother, Robert Mills of Bethel; a sister, Marianne Durgin of North Waterford; 21 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. He was predeceased by a brother, Richard H. Mills, who died in 1981.

MARY W. NICHOLS

Mary W. Nichols, 69, of the Otisfield Road, Oxford, formerly of Turner Road in Auburn, died Friday night, April 27, 1990 at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway.

She was born in Auburn, March 3, 1921, the daughter of William and Ida Webb Walton. She graduated from Lewiston High School with the class of 1939.

She was married to Duane H. Nichols on June 20, 1941. Mrs. Nichols was a homemaker. She had attended St. Joseph's Church in Lewiston, and Our Lady of the Ransom Church in Mechanic Falls.

She is survived by her husband of Oxford; a son, Duane G. Nichols of Oxford; a daughter, Debra Nichols of Burtonville, Md.; three brothers, William Walton of Lisbon, Frank Walton of Lisbon Falls, and Leo Walton of Lucerne, Calif.; five sisters, Carolyn Atwood of Bath, Veronica Mallia of Auburn, Patricia McCulloch of Rumford, Constance Bacon of West Paris, and Doris Albert of Lewiston; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

TIMOTHY R. MORRILL

Committal services for Timothy Robert Morrill will be held at Pine Grove Cemetery in West Bethel on Friday, May 4, at 3 p.m.

Masons' meeting set

Bethel Lodge #97 A.F. & A.M. will hold its communication for the month on Thursday, May 10 at 7:30 p.m.

At the conclusion of the regular business meeting, a game night will be held, including the annual Bethel Lodge Cribbage Tournament.

All Past Masters of Bethel Lodge have been invited to the meeting to have their pictures taken for the Gallery in the Lodge dining room.

It is planned to have pictures of all the Masters of the Lodge since its formation during the time of the Civil War framed and hung on the walls.

A 6:30 p.m. supper of old fashioned baked beans, hot dogs, salads and desserts will be served under the direction of Junior Warden. All area Masons are cordially invited to attend.

dover Service Circle. She has been accepted at the University of New Hampshire, Durham where she plans to study biology with future plans of entering pre-med.

Kryston Monk
Maintaining the fifth highest rank in the class is Kryston Mari Monk, daughter of Cathy Monk of Greenwood.

Kryston has been active in school affairs, serving as an instructional aide in both algebra and physical education. Kryston has been a member of Self Group, the basketball team and serves as Parliamentarian for the Future Business Leaders of America. She has a strong work ethic having held many part-time positions during her high school years. She is currently an employee of Mt. Abram Ski Area.

Kryston will major in Business Management at Mid-State College, Auburn next fall.

Nathan Misericchi

Nathan Peter Misericchi has achieved sixth place standing in his class. He is the son of Andover residents, Jack and Betty Misericchi. Nathan has won achievement awards from the National Honor Society Student of the Month program, the Andover Alumni Association and the Moses Mason House.

Nathan is also an award winning cross country runner and ski athlete looking forward to college level competition.

Nathan is also a valued member of the varsity baseball team, peer tutor program and National Honor Society. He likes to play guitar and contribute to talent shows. He helps coach Andover Little League and is a four year member of the Maine State Nordic team.

He has been accepted at the University of New Hampshire at Durham, where he will major in Liberal Arts with an emphasis on English and Journalism.

Mary-Beth Hannon

Seventh place standing has been attained by Mary-Beth Hannon, daughter of Daniel and Sally Hannon of Gilead.

Mary-Beth was inducted into the National Honor Society in her junior year. She is a valued member of the Freshman Awareness Committee, Varsity and Pep Clubs, Prom Committee, Art Club and Self Group.

She has been a class officer for three years, co-president this year. She was named to the second team for All-Star softball and field hockey her junior year, the Mountain Valley Conference first team All-Star for field hockey her senior year, and the first team All-State hockey squad. She received Rebel athletic awards for field hockey and softball her sophomore and junior years. In her spare time she volunteers at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Mary-Beth will major in physical therapy at the University of New England, Biddeford in 1990-91.

Becky Witter
In eighth place standing is Becky Sue Witter, daughter of Michael and Gail Witter, Bethel.

Becky has been a contributing member of the field hockey and ski teams, flag corps, color guard, the Freshman Awareness Committee, Self Group, yearbook staff, and band. She's devoted many hours working on the graduation and prom committees.

She's served as basketball manager, and as a member of the SAD #44 Guidance Advisory Council, Future Business Leaders of America and Students Against Drunk Driving.

She has been a teacher's assistant, a Guidance Information Systems aide, a member of the marching band and varsity club.

She has been to field hockey camp, attended Maine Scholars Day at U.M.O., and participated in a Boston exchange.

Becky has earned many honors throughout her four years at Telstar including academic awards, New England Math League recognition, candidate for the peer tutor convention and alternate for the peer leadership convention.

Outside of school, Becky has taken courses in advanced first aid, worked on the Project Graduate Committee and is a member of her church's youth group.

Becky has been accepted as a Medical Assistant major at several schools in New Hampshire, New York and Massachusetts.

Jennifer Stowell

Placing ninth in academic standing is Jennifer Arlene Stowell, daughter of Gordon and Arlene Crockett of East Bethel.

Jennifer has been treasurer and co-president of Students Against Drunk Drivers, co-president of her class her junior and senior years, a teacher's assistant for the social studies department, a member of Self Group and Substance Abuse groups, Typists R' Us and Yearbook Staff.

She attended a leadership conference in Massachusetts, and has participated in U.M.F.'s Upward Bound program since her junior year.

In addition, she's spoken with sixth graders in a Lewiston school on drug and alcohol abuse, done an interview on drug abuse for Channel 8 news, spoken to the Bethel Rotary Club about the benefits of the Upward Bound program and visited Acapulco, Mexico City and Taxco with her Spanish class.

After graduation Jen plans to attend a four year university to further her education in the human services department. She wants to become a rehabilitation service worker, probation officer or teacher. She has received acceptances to the University of Maine at Farmington and the University of Southern Maine.

Raymond Tuttle

Rounding out this outstanding group of individuals is Raymond E. Tuttle, son of James and Marguerite Tuttle of Bethel.

In January Raymond completed his second year in the Vocational Region 9 Forestry program. He has earned numerous awards for academic achievement and served as a peer tutor.

Raymond plans to pursue a career in woodharvesting.
